

Taking the Crown class was an important step in our life. We've seen and heard about it at our church Sunday worship services. We were thinking that it was another scheme to collect money. But we decided to take the class and think about our finances. Being in debt was a big issue in our life. We needed to learn and study this based on the Bible. When we found out that it was Christina and Peter Scheuermann, who we've known for a while from church, was in charge of the class, we were excited, and definitely wanted to take the class. We could not take the class together as a couple, due to our work schedules, but the Scheuermann's let us take it alternately.

It was a life-changing experience for us, to learn what the Bible says about finances, and money matters. It taught us how to be good stewards to God's property. It taught us how and why we needed to stay out of debt, to a financial freedom. We started to tithe correctly as we learned that it was part of worship to God.

After taking the class, things started to happen. Two years ago, when a leak in the bathroom of our house, caused an insurance claim, for which they had charged us a $500 deductible. They called us while we were taking the Crown class, and supposedly settled with the company that had made the defective part causing the leak, and gave our $500 deductible back. Then at another instance, Shyni had been eyeing a new phone that cost $80.

We were hesitant to get it at that price, as we did not need a new phone. But when the cell phone company had an ad for the same phone for $49 after a mail in rebate, we went to take a look at the phone. As we were waiting to pay for it, the sales person says that there wasn't any charge, and that the phone was free. We were surprised and walked out with a free phone.

Also, at another instance, we received a letter from a lawyer based out of state for redeeming a lost or unclaimed property check. We've only heard about this through a church member about missing monies that are redeemable once applied through the internet. Being skeptical, we never pursued it. But upon googling about the lawyer's letter, we stumbled on instructions contact the treasury department of the respective state that was holding a lost or unclaimed property check. We used a website called missingmoney.com, and then contacted the state treasury department.

After sending the necessary proofs and documents, we received a check close to $6000. We can't say enough of what a blessing the class has been in our lives. We want and wish that every one would take the class. There are other seminars and classes available out there, but we want to personally recommend this class; this is definitely the best class concerning finances that a church could offer. Thank you.
